

Casper Gammelgaard

With an impressive background in handling complex commercial contracts and dispute resolution, Casper Gammelgaard has been a trusted advisor to Danish and international entities for many years.

Casper's expertise spans across a wide range of areas including transactions, project development, renewable energy, and construction law, both onshore and offshore. He has personally litigated over 100 court and arbitration cases, providing him with a unique understanding of the dispute resolution process and the ability to develop effective procedural strategies.

As a certified international arbitrator by prestigious institutions such as the Danish Institute of Arbitration (DIA), Stockholm Chamber of Commerce Arbitration Institute (SCC), and the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (CI Arb, London), Casper is frequently appointed as an arbitrator in both domestic and international disputes.

Holding the title of Fellow at the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators (CI Arb, London) and serving on the CI Arb European Branch's Management Committee, Casper has built a strong international network, enabling him and his team at HjulmandKaptain to handle a wide range of cases across borders. Their clientele includes listed companies, financial institutions, government authorities, as well as medium and small businesses, both domestic and foreign.

In addition to his practical experience, Casper has significant teaching experience in subjects such as FIDIC contracts, contract management, construction law, and litigation and arbitration.

While primarily based in Aalborg and Aarhus, Casper serves clients nationally and internationally.
